THE AMERICAN ACADEMY OF POLITICAL AND SOCIAL SCIENCE

3457 Walnut Street

Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

Origin and Purpose. The Academy was organized December 14, 1889, to provide a national forum for the discussion of political and social questions. The Academy does not take sides upon controverted questions, but seeks to secure and present reliable information to assist the public in forming an intelligent and accurate opinion.

Affiliated centers. The Academy has two affiliated centers — The Pacific Southwest Academy of Los Angeles, and The Academy of World Economics in the City of Washington.

Meetings. The Academy meets occasionally each year during the winter months, either for an evening session or for conferences lasting one or two days; it also holds an annual meeting in the spring extending over two full days and including six sessions.

Research fellowships. From time to time the Academy grants fellowships for the carrying out of projects in the field of the social sciences.

Publications. (a) THE ANNALS is the regular bi-monthly publication of the Academy. Each issue contains from twenty to thirty articles on some prominent social or political problem. With rare exceptions, all articles published are written at the invitation of the editors. These volumes constitute important reference works on the topics with which they deal, and are extensively cited by authorities throughout the United States and abroad.

(b) The Academy issues a Monograph Series as a medium of publication for the research reports made by the holders of the Academy's fellowships and for other important social science studies.

(c) A Pamphlet Series has been established for the publication of occasional pamphlets.

The papers of permanent value presented at the meetings of the Academy and its affiliated centers are included in THE ANNALS.

Membership. Applications for membership in the Academy should be addressed to the Secretary. The annual membership fee is $5.00 and the life membership fee is $100.00. Members of the Academy receive the regular issues of THE ANNALS and are invited to the meetings.

Subscriptions. Libraries and other institutions are invited to subscribe to THE ANNALS at a cost of $5.00 per year.

Single copies of THE ANNALS may be secured by non-members of the Academy at $2.00 in paper, or $2.50 in cloth binding.

NEW BOOKS

The Governments of Europe

Third Edition. Published June 21

By William B. Munro

Writes one authority of this new edition of Munro's justly famous text: "I have no hesitation in saying that the revision is a masterpiece. It is cause for amazement that Dr. Munro can cover so much ground in relatively so few pages and still give the reader a critical and comprehensive knowledge of the internal politics of the great powers and of the structure and behavior of their respective governments."

$4.00.

International Economics

To be published in September

By P. T. Ellsworth

Both the theory of international trade and trade policies are fully treated here in a text which is comprehensive yet not too recondite for the undergraduate student. International trade theory is discussed in relation to general economics theory to broaden the understanding of the former. The treatment of policy includes full discussion of free trade and protection, recent restrictive devices, and international monetary policy, with a final chapter on the trend toward national self-sufficiency. $4.00 (probable).

Political Philosophies

To be published in October

By Chester C. Maxey

In this new survey of the world's great political philosophies the author has included, along with his own interesting discussion of their development, an unusual amount of illustrative material. Many of the important writers who founded schools of political thought are quoted at sufficient length to give the student first-hand acquaintance with their principal ideas. The whole history of political philosophy is covered, from classical times to the present. $4.50 (probable).

Monograph No. 2

THE NEGRO AS CAPITALIST

By ABRAM HARRIS, Ph.D.

HOWARD UNIVERSITY, WASHINGTON, D. C.

DR. HARRIS presents the first study of the Negro's struggle to gain economic status and social respectability by erecting within the larger framework of capitalism a small world of Negro business enterprise. In 1924 there were thirty-five Negro banks in the United States, but at the time of the study there were only twelve. Dr. Harris investigates these banks, analyzing their financial structure and the character of their administration, the causes of their failure, and the qualitative and quantitative character of their business. His discussion will interest the banker and the business man as well as the student of race relations and the thoughtful general reader.

Important Announcement

THE November 1938 issue of THE ANNALS will be of unusual significance. Several years ago a special committee consisting of Charles H. Judd, Chairman, James B. Conant, Edgar S. Furniss, Charles E. Merriam, and Lynn Thorndike called to the attention of the Social Science Research Council the need for a dispassionate, scholarly examination of the effects of freedom and suppression of freedom of all forms of intellectual life. Professor Edward P. Cheyney, the distinguished historian of the University of Pennsylvania, was invited to direct the inquiry, assisted by an advisory committee whose members were Roy F. Nichols, Chairman, E. G. Conklin, E. S. Corwin, and Kent R. Greenfield.

Each important field of intellectual activity has been covered in a separate study. These will be published under the general title
